MAYOR OF CORK MUST LEAVE IS WILSON RULING

President Upholds Davis' Stand and O'Callaghan is Ordered Deported Immediately

MUST REPORT "PROMPTLY" AT NORFOLK FOR DEPORTATION

Cannot Stay Without Properly Vised Passports is the Decision

WASHINGTON.—Counsel for Donald O'Callaghan, lord mayor of Cork, who arrived in the country recently without a passport, was directed Wednesday by Secretary Wilson to deliver the lord mayor "promptly" to the immigration inspector at Norfolk.

The case of Mayor O'Callaghan, the stowaway lord mayor of Cork, was discussed by President Wilson, Acting Secretary of State Davis, and Secretary of Labor Wilson following the cabinet meeting Tuesday afternoon.

Secretary Wilson, it is understood, reported to the president from the ruling of the state department directing the deportation of the lord mayor, and the president sustained the position taken by Secretary Davis.

The solicitor of the state department submitted to Mr. Davis an opinion on the ruling of the labor department that the lord mayor passed from the status of a stowaway to that of a seaman by reason of having been given employment by the master of the vessel, the Cannon.

The solicitor pointed out that even should O'Callaghan be a "seaman" he is nevertheless unlawfully here, since O'Callaghan does not possess a valid seaman's certificate.

WORCESTER FIRES CAUSE LOSSES OF OVER A MILLION

WORCESTER, Mass.—This city was spotted by fires early Wednesday with a loss that ran upwards of $1,000,000.

Two business buildings on Main street were burned out a few blocks south of the city hall, a score of tenement structures were over-run by sparks that caused roof flames and caused at the Danforth and New Park hotels prepared to follow the tenement dwellers into the zero temperature of the streets.

While this epidemic of flames engaged all the city's apparatus, another fire spot developed several blocks northeast of the city hall at North Foster and Union streets where the woodworking plant of the M. K. Smith corporation was burned with a loss of $100,000.

The origin of the principal fires was not definitely determined but the police say they had only the faintest suspicion of incendiaryism.

COVER UP SLIPPERY WALKS SAYS CITY ATTORNEY TODAY

This is a warning. Whenever sidewalks become slippery in winter, the property owner is required, under city ordinance, to spread ashes or sand on sidewalks and streets.

City Attorney Oscar J. Swenson called attention to the ordinance this morning in view of the slippery condition of the walks today, and also referred to the fact that the ordinance provides a penalty for those failing to comply with its provisions.

OVER FIVE THOUSAND INDICTED UNDER WAR LAWS SAYS PALMER

Many Cases Disposed of Otherwise than by Conviction Reports Attorney General

DEMANDS INVESTIGATION OF HIS DEPARTMENT

Defends Methods Used in Rounding up Radicals

WASHINGTON.—Convictions have been obtained in 5,720 of the 17,500 cases prosecuted by the department of justice under war-time laws and 9,250 of the cases are still pending, Attorney General Palmer said Wednesday before the senate judiciary committee considering proposals for general amnesty for persons convicted under the espionage and other war acts. A total of 2,833 cases "were disposed of otherwise than by convictions," the attorney general added.

The largest number of cases arose from violation of the selective service act under which 4,312 persons were convicted, chiefly for failure to register for the draft, the attorney general said. Of the cases pending 8,846 are for alleged violations of that act.

Attorney General Palmer declared he not only welcomed a searching investigation of methods used by the department of justice in rounding up radicals, but believed that "in justice to the public" one should be made immediately.

"The time has come when we need something more than blind allegations, hearsay evidence and loose charges," Mr. Palmer asserted.

The attorney general replied to charges which, he said, had been "spread broad cast" by the National Popular Government league that department of justice agents had used high-handed methods in dealing with alleged radicals.

"These charges have been prepared by a group of attorneys, many of whom already were persons arrested," the attorney general added, "and are based on the statements of deportees who were eager to discredit the men who had caused their arrests."

END OF INDUSTRIAL DEPRESSION IN SIGHT SAYS LABOR LEADER

Milwaukee Man Warns Labor to Save Money Against Possible Recurrence

GREEN BAY, Wis.—An end to the present industrial depression in spring was predicted by John J. Handley, Milwaukee, state organizer Wisconsin Federation of Labor, who spoke here Tuesday night before a machinists' gathering. He warned his audience to save all money possible, as another reaction would likely occur next winter.

"The hours of labor should be reduced and the wages increased," he declared. "The vast majority of the working people have shortened their lives by working long hours. Right now there are 75,000 persons out of employment in the state of Wisconsin. Thirty-five thousand alone are walking the streets of Milwaukee looking for work. If one hour of labor was taken from each person employed in this state, 65,000 would be benefited."

"The Wisconsin State Federation of Labor is trying to have an unemployment compensation bill introduced in the present legislature. The bill will provide for a compensation of $1.50 a day for persons unavoidably out of work more than three days, the cost to be paid by industries. Several more bills, which are designed to benefit labor, are to be presented."

The meeting was considered as a start of the open and closed shop fight in Wisconsin.

NO REDUCTION IN SIGHT IN PRICES OF GRAVE STONES

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—Present high prices of grave-stones will remain unchanged, according to delegates attending the Illinois Reclaim Monument Dealers' convention. However, it was said just as many or more monuments will be sold as last year. Old elaborate designs will be abandoned and prevailing designs will be simple.

WOMAN WILL TAKE ELECTORAL VOTE TO WASHINGTON BY AIR

LINCOLN, Neb.—Mrs. H. H. Wheeler, 55 and a grandmother, is scheduled to leave Lincoln at 8 a. m. Thursday by airplane on a trip to Washington, D. C., as delegate charged with delivering the Nebraska electoral vote. She will be joined in Omaha at 9 a. m. by Mrs. Draper Smith, 66, alternate and also a grandmother in another plane. The trip will be made "wind and weather permitting," Mrs. Wheeler says.

ACQUIT TWO IN CHIPPEWA FALLS ACTION

Jury in U. S. Court Finds Kelley and Smith Not Guilty of Transporting Liquor

CIRCUMSTANTIAL EVIDENCE IN CASE FREES DEFENDANTS

Charles Lum on Trial on Charge of Operating Still in His Home

Edward J. Kelley and George Smith, Chippewa Falls, were the first defendants acquitted by a jury in United States court here this term in the trial of liquor actions before Judge Kenschaw Mountain Landis of Chicago.

After being out two hours, the jury returned a verdict finding the defendants not guilty of possessing or transporting liquor or having liquor in stock in a garage in which Smith kept two automobiles.

In this action, Judge Landis pointed out to the jury in his charge, the evidence was circumstantial. Smith owned a car which he loaned to Kelley for a night drive. While the machine was out two automobile agents arrived from Minneapolis to reclaim the car on the ground that Smith had not met the payments demanded. Smith told them, he said on the witness stand, that the car was enroute to Milwaukee.

Car is Pursued

Late in the evening the auto agents spied the machine, a Nash model, passing on the street and one saw Smith jump on the running board. Pursuit of the car ended in the city of Chippewa Falls, when the Nash was found jammed against the curb with a wheel off. Kelley was found and arrested near by. An auto agent discovered hidden behind a church two suit cases filled with whiskey, only one hundred feet from the wrecked auto. Kelley was arrested, and Smith was taken later in the night at his hotel.

There was no direct evidence to prove that Kelley and Smith transported in this auto the whiskey found behind the church, or that Kelley had carried the stuff out of the machine after the accident. Smith testified he stood on the running board of the car only long enough to tell Kelley to hide the machine so the auto agents could not find it.

Rented the Garage

The testimony indicated that Smith did not own the garage in which another suitcase of liquor was found, but rented it from a woman. He testified there was a quantity of merchandise and debris stored in the barn when he rented it, and he had to have this moved to make room for his cars.

Judge Landis held a night session of court Tuesday to hear evidence and arguments in this case. He charged the jury Wednesday morning.

The seventh case tried here this week before Judge Landis went to the jury early Wednesday afternoon, when arguments in the action against Charles Lum of Milton Junction, charged with having in his possession and operating a still, were concluded.

Find Still Warm

Prohibition Agents Ihrig and Henning testified they found the still in Lum's home at 7:30 in the morning and the stew kettle was so warm it could not be handled immediately, indicating the fire under it had been burning a short time before.

Defendant testified he had no still in his house; that he lived there alone and there was no woman in the house. The prohibition agents testified a woman admitted them when they went to the domicile to search the place.

A section foreman testified that Lum was at work on the section from 7 in the morning until 6 at night on July 17, the day the still was seized, three miles from the Lum home.

WANTED—SKATERS THURSDAY IS LAST CHANCE TO ENTER

Wanted—Skaters! The carnival committee wishes to call special attention to the fact that the entries for the sports events in every department close Thursday evening, January 20.

Members of the committee state that entries in some of the events particularly the mile, half mile and 220 yard skating events, are coming in very slow. It is thought that skaters are afraid of running up against strong competition.

Step in and enter these events, as some one must get the trophies that are being offered.

Tomorrow, Thursday, is your last chance to enter. There are but few entries in these events to date. Remember, some one is going to be awarded the large trophies. Entry blank on sport page.

PROPOSED LAW SUGGESTS PROHIBITION ENFORCEMENT THROUGH LOCAL OFFICERS

(BY FRED L. HOLMES)

MADISON, Wis.—Enforcement of the prohibition laws of the state through local officers, the sheriffs and district attorneys, was proposed in a bill offered in the house on Wednesday by Assemblyman A. E. Matheson, Janesville. The bill is the much heralded measure of the Wisconsin Anti-Saloon league, which has recently been the subject of so many conferences.

"Each district attorney shall be ex officio prohibition commissioner of his county," says the bill, "and as such shall have the co-operation of every peace officer. When called upon by the district attorney the commissioner shall give such advice, assistance and co-operation as may be within his power."

The new prohibition bill incorporates most of the features of the Mulberger act approved by the people, except that the definition of intoxicating liquor is changed to be over one-half percent of alcohol, the same as in the federal act. Many of the old prohibition laws of the state have been partially drafted into the measure and the general provisions of the Volstead act have been taken, wherever they would fit in. The aim has been to make the law the same as the federal law so far as possible.

The law retains the office of prohibition commissioner to be appointed by the governor, by and with the advice and consent of the senate. Instead of leaving the entire enforcement of the law to the state department in co-operation with the federal authorities, the new measure proposes to place a heavy responsibility on the district attorneys of the state.

By the terms of the law, county officials, including district attorneys, may be removed by the governor on complaint that they have failed to enforce the law.

A still greater responsibility is placed upon the district attorneys. Before permits shall be granted by the state for a physician or druggist to have liquor, the permit must be approved by the district attorney. Every druggist must sign an application saying that "he will not sell any alcohol to a person who is in the habit of using intoxicating liquors as a beverage." No druggist shall be permitted to buy more liquor than would represent two percent of the value of the goods in his drug store.

Preserved sweet cider is permitted. The bill declares that the provisions of the act shall not be construed to prevent the manufacture or sale, use or transportation of "vinegar, or preserved sweet cider, or alcohol denatured under the United States formula."

"Taxi drivers are prohibited under a heavy fine from conveying persons to any place where intoxicating liquors are sold." As under the present law the common council of each city may license places for the sale of near beer, but alcohol shall not be kept in places where near beer is sold.

Physicians and druggists must keep a complete record of all liquors prescribed or sold. All permits for the sale of liquor must be accompanied by a signed permission of the district attorney and a fee of $10. All permits expire at the end of each calendar year. It is expected that the bill will be sent to the state affairs committee and will be given a hearing within the next ten days.

The senate adopted a privileged bill introduced by Senator George Staudenmayer calling for all first-class printing to be done at Madison, while allowing emergency to be done at any place in the state. Following adoption of this bill the senate recessed until 2 o'clock this afternoon. The assembly after hearing bills adjourned until tomorrow.

Other bills filed in the lower house include a measure by Assemblyman Higgins of Milwaukee, providing one day's rest in eight for policemen in cities of the first class; a bill by Representative Matheson providing for appointment of divorce counsel in the less populous counties; and a bill by Representative Olson to appropriate $27,000 to help pay claims of farmers for the loss of tubercular animals.

The demand for a short session of the legislature reached the assembly when Assemblyman Grandine introduced a joint resolution providing for a recess of the legislature from April 20 to January 11 of next year. Assemblyman Higgins of Milwaukee offered his resolution inviting the people of upper Michigan to annex the Upper Peninsula to Wisconsin, and urging upon congress the advisability of such action.

GOVERNOR HARDING SLATED TO DIRECT TRADE CORPORATION

NEW YORK.—Gov. William B. Harding of the federal reserve board will be tendered the presidency of the proposed foreign trade financing corporation, it was announced here Wednesday by John McHugh, chairman of the organization committee.

LIVE BUTTERFLY FOUND IN HOLMEN IN ZERO WEATHER

Holmen is thinking of advertising itself as a winter resort following the discovery there recently of a live butterfly, calmly waving its wings on a woodpile in an open field with the thermometer standing in the neighborhood of zero. The butterfly was captured by the discoverer, A. F. Meyer, and is still alive at his home, contentedly roosting on a geranium plant in the living room.

INITIATIVE AND REFERENDUM ARE ASKED BY HUBER

Dane County Senator Presents Amendment Providing for Changes in Constitution

WILL KEEP GOVERNMENT IN HANDS OF THE PEOPLE HE SAYS

Also Proposes Recall for Constitutional Officers

(BY FRED L. HOLMES)

MADISON, Wis.—Declaring that the initiative and referendum are necessary to keep government continually in the hands of the people, Senator Henry Huber of Dane County, introduced a constitutional amendment for initiative and referendum in the upper house on Wednesday. The amendments for initiative and referendum are similar to those which were presented at the 1913 sessions of the legislature with the exception that many of the objections, which were then made against the resolutions have been eliminated. The initiative provides a process whereby the people can enact their own legislation. Before the initiative can be used, however, under the Huber resolution eight percent of the people by petition must ask the legislature to pass the certain laws. If the legislature declines to pass the law it is then referred to the people for a vote. If a constitutional amendment in the legislature requiring a two-thirds vote of both houses should receive only a majority vote in each house, thereby failing, five percent of the people may petition that the amendment may be referred to them for a vote and it must so be done.

The outstanding feature of the Huber resolution is that the bill of rights is exempted from the provisions of the initiative and referendum. This is similar to the initiative in Massachusetts. The people have retained the power to add to the bill of rights but under the initiative and referendum as proposed by Mr. Huber, have no power to take from it those rights. Independent of the initiative and referendum the legislature now has power and will still have the power to amend the bill of rights by constitutional amendment.

The recall proposed by Senator Huber is not as radical as that adopted in other states. He proposes that it shall apply to constitutional officers only, and that an official elected shall be given an opportunity to demonstrate his fitness in office before he can be recalled.

"By the initiative and referendum it must not be understood that we shall do away with our representative form of government," said Senator Huber. "It will only act as a safety valve and bring back our law making body to its true foundation principles, that representatives should truly represent the masses of people. In other words, the initiative and referendum is simply the means by which the people shall have an effective and direct method of making their influence felt and their wishes respected, with reference to what laws would be placed on the statute books. This is the very essence of democracy. It puts the matter in the hands of the people."

"The court in the state of Oregon in passing upon the initiative and referendum has this to say. 'It is difficult to conceive of a system of law-making coming nearer to the great body of people of the entire state or by those composing the various municipalities, than that now in use here, but the initiative and referendum amendments does not abolish or destroy the republican form of government or substitute another in its place. The representative form of government still remains. The people have simply reserved to themselves a larger share of representative power of government.'

"This is significant. In no state that has adopted the initiative and referendum has the law been repealed to go back to the old system."

LANDIS WILL TALK TO EX-SERVICEMEN AT LEGION MEETING

All Soldiers of the Late War Invited to Social Session at Eagles' Hall Tonight

Judge K. M. Landis, Chicago, who is here holding United States court, will be the guest of the American Legion at a social session to be held in Eagles' hall at 8 o'clock tonight. All ex-service men are invited to attend this gathering.

Following the program, which will consist of a talk by Judge Landis and songs by Walter Goetzinger's quartet, luncheon will be served by the Gold Star Mothers.

The largest attended and most interesting meeting of the year is anticipated by officers of the Legion tonight.

RATHBURN WITHDRAWS CHARGES OF ASSAULT AGAINST CHAS. LARSON

Eugene Rathburn has withdrawn his charges of assault against Charles Larson which were to have been tried before a jury in county court today. A jury had been struck Tuesday afternoon but late in the day, Rathburn, through his attorney, sent word that he did not wish to continue the case. Notices to the jury to report this morning were not issued. This morning, however, Larson, and his attorney, Oscar Swenson, appeared in court, prepared to answer Rathburn's charges but the case was dismissed by Judge Brindley because of Rathburn's failure to appear.

FIRST TEAM COMES TOLA CROSSE OVER ICE ROAD ON RIVER

The first team to be driven over the river ice arrived in La Crosse today. Louis Hecht of Brownsville, arrived with a load of wood. He says the ice is from ten to eleven inches thick and is safe for teams.

MINNESOTA BOYS, BUDDIES IN FRANCE, REUNITED BY LETTER

LANESBORO, Minn.—After being "buddies" in France all during the World war but losing track of each other after getting their discharge from the army, Paul DeVilliers of this place and John Eyestad, of Alberta, Minn., have again found one another. The reunion was effected by means of a letter written to Eyestad by DeVilliers and sent to Alberta but which was answered from Preston, in which town Eyestad conducts a meat market now. The two men were recently reunited at the DeVilliers home in Lanesboro.

DEORAIL, Iowa.—V. M. Skokop, of Hesper, township, recently sold fifteen turkeys for which he received $111.32 for over $7 apiece. One of the flock brought $13, weighing over 30 pounds.

TWO MORE ARE CONVICTED IN LIQUOR CASES

Joseph Carr Held Responsible for Sale of Liquor by Bartender in Mercer Hotel

TWO BOYS AND TAXI DRIVER OF WASHBURN FOUND GUILTY

First Still Offered in Evidence in Case Against Charles Lum of Milton Junction

JOSEPH CARR, operating a hotel at Mercer, Wis., was found guilty by a jury in United States court before Judge Landis of having in his possession and selling liquor. The evidence showed that the liquor was sold to a federal prohibition agent by Harry Crawford, a bartender in the hotel.

Leo DeMars, George Smith and Albert LaHara, the latter two minors, were found guilty of having liquor in their possession, and on a count charging transportation of three bottles of moonshine from Washburn to Ashland in a car, the jury found them not guilty.

In this case the defendants were apprehended when DeMars, a taxicab driver, stopped the machine in Ashland while one of the boys went to get girls to accompany them on a joyride. The Ashland police searched the car, found three bottles of moonshine and arrested the trio and seized the car.

First Still Offered

Trial of Charles Lum of Milton Junction, charged with having in his possession and operating a still, started Wednesday morning. The still is the first offered in evidence in this term of court. Federal prohibition agents testified they found the still in the house at 7:30 in the morning, and while it was not in operation, was warm, indicating the fire under the mash kettle had recently been extinguished.

Lum's defense is that the window of the house was open and the still must have been placed in the house by some unknown party. The defense will prove, it was announced, that Lum was away from the house from 7 in the morning until that hour at night, working on the section.

The case against George Smith and Edward J. Kelley, arrested at Chippewa Falls on a charge of transporting liquor and having intoxicants in their possession in a garage, went to the jury at 9:30 Wednesday morning following a night session of court in which arguments were made.

Two Autos Involved

Kelley and Smith were arrested the night of December 3 when George B. Staten and L. Cuddington of the Gray Motor company, Minneapolis, arrived in Chippewa Falls to reclaim two automobiles sold to Smith and which, it was claimed, had not been paid for.

Smith turned over one of the cars and said the other was on its way to Milwaukee, having been loaned to a friend. With the assistance of the police the auto dealers located the other car in Chippewa Falls that night. After a chase it was found damaged against a curb, with a wheel off. Near by Kelley was arrested, and back of a church 100 feet from the wrecked car was found two suit cases filled with whiskey. Smith was arrested later in the night at a hotel, where he lived with his wife. It was alleged that more whiskey was found in a garage which Smith rented for the cars.

Changes His Plea

Henry Morris, Superior, charged with having liquor in his possession, changed his plea to guilty. Alexander Weaver pleaded guilty to possession of liquor and the court nolle prossed a charge of transporting one pint of moonshine.

BILL INTRODUCED IN SENATE ASKS 8-HOUR WORK DAY

Measure Presented by Milwaukee Man Follows Governor's Recommendations

NO BUSINESS TRANSACTIONS
TUESDAY IN ASSEMBLY

House Adjourns in Respect to Dead Member

MADISON, Wis.—A basic eight-hour working day for Wisconsin labor was proposed by Senator G. W. Czerwinski of Milwaukee in a bill introduced in the senate Tuesday afternoon. Ten bills were given their first reading in the upper house, while the assembly adjourned after passage of a resolution expressing regret over the death of Assemblyman Samuel Owens of Green Lake.

Speaker Young, in the assembly, held over the list of his committee appointments until Wednesday out of respect to the dead assemblyman. It was decided by members to transact no business during the day. A committee of the lower house was present at the funeral of Assemblyman Owens held this afternoon in Green Lake.

The Czerwinski eight-hour bill follows recommendations of the governor in his message to the legislature. Its adoption would require employers to pay at least time and one-half for all employment over eight hours, with failure to comply judged a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not more than $500.

Six other bills were proposed by the Milwaukee senator providing for one day's rest in eight for policemen; required stopping of motor vehicles before passing over railroad crossings; extension of the scope of the service recognition bill; income tax exemption of $400 in addition to the present exemption, for each child under 18 years of age; and two bills, one setting Washington's birthday a legal school holiday and the other making November 11 a legal holiday.

Senator J. Henry Bennett of Viroqua introduced a bill exempting cities from any part in payment for building of railroad grade crossings.

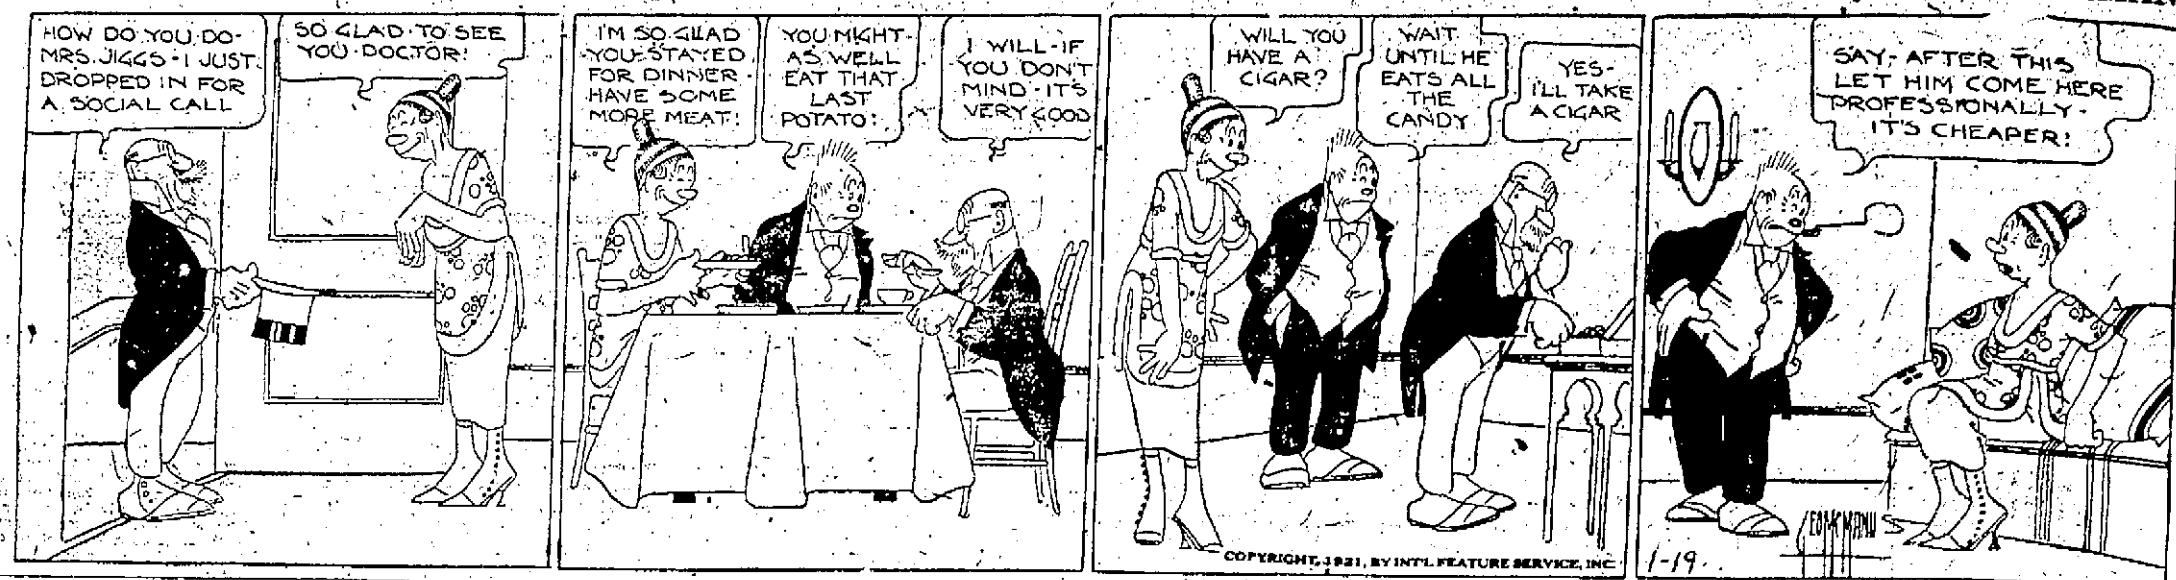

Senator C. H. Morris of Milwaukee in a bill asked uniform wages for the legislative employees and decided increases. He would revise the whole schedule of salaries for the subordinate clerks and sergeant-at-arms. A bill introduced by Senator Nye would authorize both houses to provide for any legislative printing by joint resolution.

Perfume of the Woods

The very first perfume made use of was that of the sandalwood, and after that it was discovered that there were other woods from which pleasant perfumes could be made. There are several "false sandalwoods," however, three from India, two from the Philippines, and one from Australia. All scented woods are said to be from the attacks of insects, and it is thought that this is what prompted the Aztecs to make use of the red wood for their "totem" poles which when erected stand for a long time.

The round towers of Ireland were the only structures of stone found on the island on the arrival of the English in 1169, except some buildings in the maritime towns founded by the Danes.

Unconsciousness from suffocation is due to the cutting off of the supply of oxygen to the lungs.

In cases where persons are overcome by smoke or gas, remove them to the nearest point where the atmosphere is clear.

In mild cases, walking the patient up and down in the open air and giving an effervescent drink to cause belching and thereby relieve the accompanying nausea may be all that is required.

In severe cases, when the patient is still breathing, a few drops of ammonia water sprinkled on the handkerchief and held under his nose, once a minute, is beneficial; and if he can swallow, give one-half (32) teaspoonful of aromatic spirits of ammonia in half a glass of water.

If breathing has ceased, loosen the collar and any tight clothing around the neck and chest, and use artificial respiration, continuing this at least two hours, or until the patient begins to breathe regularly of his own accord. Then put the patient to bed and give stimulants.

In all cases of suffocation send for a doctor at once, but do not wait for his arrival before starting artificial respiration.

Whooping-Cough

My little grandson has had whooping cough six weeks, has been whooping two weeks, he coughs very little, some days he whoops once or twice, a very little bit. I wanted to take him home, but he has a baby brother two months old, and the doctor said he thought as long as this one whooped the baby would take it, and I have been told that I would have to wait 18 days.

While whooping-cough may be regarded as one of the milder infections in the case of older children, in infancy it is one of the most fatal. In a young baby whooping-cough in winter may easily become complicated with broncho-pneumonia, so you see the danger of exposing the little one to this disease. Do not take the older boy home till the spasmodic stage (whooping) is quite over.

Heart Trouble

I am a girl 17 years old, and have been troubled with my heart. It pains very often, sometimes so badly that I can hardly breathe. Our family doctor says it is not heart trouble, but acid in my stomach. He gave me some medicine, but it does not help me any. It pains more than ever.

I am sure you were glad to learn that the pain you supposed was due to heart trouble was caused by stomach trouble instead. I should advise you to continue treatment for stomach trouble since when that is cured you will probably have no more pain in the region of your heart. Ask your doctor to prescribe a suitable diet, and carry out all his directions with great care. Get all the open air exercises you can without over-fatigue, and plenty of fresh air and sleep. Make sure your mind to help the doctor to cure your stomach trouble, and your heart will probably take care of itself.

Appendicitis

I had an operation for appendicitis a few years ago, and got along fine at the time, but have had continual trouble since. It would hurt at times so I would be unable to do my house work. I have been to many doctors and they don't seem to know what it is or what to do. It is getting worse all the time.

It is not uncommon to have a certain form of trouble following an operation, but this can usually be corrected. I refer to the formation of adhesions following the first operation, and these sometimes have to be broken up by a second operation. I would advise you to consult a good surgeon.

Protect the Windshield

Cold weather places a great strain on the windshield if it is screwed up tight. As a precaution against breakage, it is advisable to unscrew the thumb-nuts on the side of each standard, and then push equally on each side of the metal moulding when opening and closing.

Public Debate

LANSING'S POSITION

Lansing, Iowa, Jan. 14, 1921.

Editor La Crosse Tribune:

Referring to an article in a recent issue of your good paper relative to the Mississippi river scenic highway and Lansing's attitude toward the proposition: To avoid a misunderstanding which must surely result from a reading of the article referred to and in order to put our position right with our neighboring towns, who, according to statements made, might have cause to feel that Lansing stood in the way of their interests, may we ask that you kindly say, through your columns and in as conspicuous manner as was accorded to the article in question, that Lansing men wish it understood that they never, at any time or in any way, pronounced the undertaking of putting the highway through, too great. They did, however, balk at the proposition put up to them by the gentleman representing the organization having the matter in charge.

They believe any set of careful business men would have taken the exact position they took under the circumstances and conditions surrounding the case.

They believe that disregarding the matter of whether or not a trail is located on the east side of the river, one will eventually be put through on the route first designated. To spend money in routing traffic over the trail months, and most probably years before it is ready for travel, we believe would be a mistake. Lansing has money to spend for any reasonable enterprise looking to her upbuilding, but her men are in the habit of analyzing a proposition and seeing that they have value received, or in plain sight, before they part with their money.

Lansing's men have taken the time and trouble to learn what other towns and cities along the route have done and stand ready to do their full part, as they understand it.

R. G. Mills, Secretary.

Filling the Radiator

The radiator should be filled slowly in order that the water may pass into the whole system. Before assuming that there is enough water in the cooling system, it is best to start the motor and let it run slowly, then to continue pouring the water into the radiator until full.

Crank Intermittently

When the car is hard to start, do not keep your foot on the starter button until the engine goes. That places a heavy drain on the battery. It is better to crank a second or two at a time, stopping between times, to change the position of the choke or the spark or gas levers.

A Taxpayers' Meeting

H. L. TAYLOR's letter in the Public Debate column of last Sunday doubtless struck a sympathetic chord in the community. The tax rate has been reduced, but almost everybody's tax bill is larger than before because of the general increase in assessment which was inaugurated last year. Mr. Taylor did not complain of this, nor do we believe that citizens generally have objection to increased assessment when the jacking-up process is uniform. But there have been numerous complaints of inequalities which, at the least, deserve to be investigated and straightened out if they are found to be justified. Mr. Taylor's suggestion of the employment of an expert appraiser to examine all city property seems to proceed from a common sense size-up of the situation, but there are said to be legal difficulties in the way which make it impossible without enabling legislation. Perhaps another meeting of the tax-payers' association might be of value in the situation. One recalls that the brief activities of the tax-payers last year, in holding a meeting with the tax and assessment officials, accomplished some positive improvement in the conditions then existing. Such a meeting might afford considerable assistance to the board of assessors in their 1921 review, and obviate discussion and perhaps some friction likely to arise if alleged discriminations are allowed to wait until the completion of the tax roll and the meeting of the board of review before being ironed out.

It's Done Abroad

IN theory and principle of government this country faces its contemporaries with a distinct margin of superiority. But in the matter of administration we have more to learn from others less fortunate in the basic foundations. An article in the current "American City", for instance, discusses the forestry laws of Czechoslovakia. They are hold-overs from the rotten regime of the Hapsburgs, but there is nothing that approaches them for common sense and wisdom in the enactments of the enlightened state of Wisconsin. We quote:

"Here (in Slovakia) the state owns about 750,000 acres of (timber land). Municipalities hold 2,000,000, and private owners have 2,500,000 acres. This is the entire forest area of Slovakia, comprising about 5,000,000 acres. In many instances the municipalities of Slovakia were enabled to materially reduce or totally abolish direct taxation through lumbering operations in their holdings.

"A novel feature of Czechoslovak forest development is the principle that the annual growth must equal or exceed the annual cut. This is a wise and far-sighted policy. It is estimated that 6,600,000 cubic meters of firewood and 9,400,000 cubic meters of commercial timber are cut yearly. The quantity used for fuel during and since the war will be greatly reduced, in the very near future, through stimulated production of bituminous coal, lignite and oil. At the prevailing prices for lumber, competent authorities estimate the value of the annual timber cut to be about $120,000,000.

"The policy now pursued in lumbering operations is to allow the cutting of only mature timber. On the other hand, it restricts the cutting of timber to such quantities as are added to standing timber. That is, if the increase in standing timber in a given year amounts to 20,000,000 cubic meters, then the cut for that year may be about the same quantity. If it is more or less, the cut must correspond.

"It is well to point out some of the main features of the laws governing the Czechoslovak forests. Without official sanction, no soil used for forest purposes may be used for any other; all lumbered areas must be reforested within five years; no forest may be wholly destroyed, or cut in such a way as to impair its usefulness for forest purposes. Regarding fire protection, the laws further provide that owners must maintain an efficient and sufficient number of trained forest guards and wardens, an accepted number of fire prevention devices, provisions for the extermination of injurious insects, and against trespassing.

"There is an example here for the state which will appeal to conservationists, but perhaps there is also a more intimate local application. The quotation notes that, by attention to their timber possessions, many cities of Slovakia, 'materially reduced' or 'totally abolished' direct taxation by the sale of their lumber crops. Is there not something here for progressive American cities to investigate and apply?

La Crosse, for instance, has in its 634 acres of park land 431 acres that are unimproved—timber and brush land. This includes Hixon Forest and 100 acres on Barron's Island. The value of the trees thus owned must run into many thousands of dollars, considered simply as firewood. Doubtless there is at present a modicum of saw-timber, also. In any event, the unimproved part of the park acreage is left to its own wasteful devices. Underbrush crowds and stunts the standing timber, trees fall and ruin others, valuable firewood rots and decays on the ground. The only use that has ever been made of the city's timber holdings was in the few weeks of wood-cutting undertaken during the fuel famine of the war period. Even hasty and careless as that was, it showed a profit and performed a useful service for the community.

There can be small doubt that the city would not only profit substantially by making thoughtful use of its timbered park lands, but that it would also greatly improve the usefulness and beauty of such areas. Underbrush cut-out and sold for firewood would only increase the accessibility and charm of the "unimproved" areas. Trees of small value cut down for firewood would be replaced by seedlings of varieties of trees that in the course of time would be worth hundreds of dollars apiece for lumber. The city's present wooded acreage, of course, is not large enough to furnish an annual return of any great effect upon the general tax rate, but at least a definite development policy would appear to offer an opportunity to the park department which would not only make the most of possibilities from the standpoint of public beauty and pleasure, but also add a not insignificant yearly sum to its too-meager appropriation. We should like to see the matter seriously investigated.

To Illustrate

SENATOR LENROOT'S appeal to progressive citizens to go to congress and to the legislature and do something practical for the farmer may be pointed by the incident related by Congressman Fordney, chairman of the house ways and means committee. Fordney recites the sale of a car of sheep. The market brought $2.10 per head, of which but thirty-three cents was returned to the western farmer. Upon the day of delivery Fordney paid sixty-five cents for two lamb chops in a Washington restaurant. Lacking but half a penny, he paid as much for one lamb chop as the farmer got for one whole lamb.

Of course this is an exceptional case. Farmers don't sell sheep for thirty-three cents the head very often. But there exists a vastly disproportionate difference between the price of a lamb and of a lamb chop. We want farmers to grow meat. If they are to keep on raising meat, they must get a fair return. Congress and the legislatures may not have constitutional authority to order such matters in dollars and cents, but they can legally aid in promoting marketing conditions and facilities by the employment of which the farmer can insure to himself a fair profit upon his industry.

Senator Lenroot thinks progressive citizens should make it very plain to our law-making bodies that the people expect them to do these things for the farmer.

Wouldn't it be interesting were a congressional committee to trace the transaction through and find out just what happened to the car of sheep sold at $2.10 per head, of which the farmer received only thirty-three cents? It might make legislation simpler.

In Ye Olden Times

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY

A meeting of the joint committee of the Manufacturers' and Jobbers' union and of the board of trade on the commission form of government will be held Friday. The committee at a former meeting reported in favor of the commission form of government but as several members were in favor of amendments it was decided to reconsider the bill before it is sent to the legislature. One amendment which seems to be favored here is that of giving the city the power to name the number of commissioners and their salaries.

An addition to the La Crosse Plow Company that will mean the doubling of the capacity of the foundry and the doubling of the number of men employed in this department is planned by that concern and by next fall the addition will be completed according to announcement made this morning.

After fourteen years' continuous service during which time he has risen from private to captain, Philip J. Wendling of Company B, W. N. G., today resigned, despite the urging of Marshall Cousins, adjutant of the Third regiment, to retain his office. He may be succeeded by John Bradley, first lieutenant.

Rev. F. Stromer, pastor of the German Lutheran church on Avon street, has received a call to a pastorate in Bay City, Mich., which he will probably accept. Mr. J. C. Easton is having a blacksmith shop erected on his stock farm where his horses can be shod and repairs made.

Logging interests of this section are suffering for want of snow and many men are idle who would find plenty to do if there were snow on the ground. When the first snow came crews were sent to the woods, camps were built and preparations made for a large cut but now most of the men are home again waiting for snow. In some instances attempts at building ice roads are proving successful.

THE HAUNTED HOUSE

By FREDERICK HART

"Phew! There's no such thing as a ghost!" Cordelia Davis's voice was defiant. "I think you're all silly to believe such stories. There's no more harm in that old house than there is in a chicken coop."

"But Cordelia, old Bates says—"

"Oh, don't tell me what old Bates says! I wouldn't believe that old reprobate on a stack of bibles. He's always telling the most awful whoppers, and he tells them so often that he thinks they are true himself. Why, you've all heard his story about the catfish that was so big that they had to use a calf for bait! He's the worst liar in the country."

The object of Cordelia's outburst of skepticism was a group of young people who were sitting around the fireplace in the Davis country house enjoying the heat of the flames. For though it was early October there was a chill in the air that made the crackling logs very comfortable.

The talk had drifted from golf and bridge to omelette, boards and haunted houses and some one had mentioned the deserted house up the road, stating that it was haunted, and adding the evidence of old Bates, the peripatetic gardener of the Davis ménage, as evidence in support.

A weird tale of moving lights and hollow groans had caused the company to sit a little closer around the fire—all except Cordelia. She shouted her derision at the tale, and overrode the objections of the company as she usually overrode anything that opposed itself to her sweet will.

"Why," she finished as a sort of crusher to example all opposition. "I wouldn't be afraid to spend the night in that old place any time. I'm not afraid of Bates's groans and lights. There never was a haunted house and there never can be. I'll go there tonight!"

There was a chorus of protest, and even Cordelia saw the absurdity of the suggestion. But she was not to be so easily turned from her position.

"Well, of course I couldn't stay all night," she amended. "Mother would have a fit—but I will do this—I'll go up to the house and stay till midnight. Mother won't be in from the club till after then and I can prove that I'm right just as well in two hours as all night. Now don't try to dissuade me, for I've made up my mind. I'm going, and what's more, I don't want any of you to follow me, and put up a crazy joke by making a lot of noises. I'm going up to the house, and I'm going to stay there till I hear the village clock strike twelve. It isn't far off and I'll be perfectly safe. I just want to show you how foolish you are to believe in ghosts and all that rot. I'm going now—good night!"

And before any one could protest she was out of the room, looking out of the window they could see her in the early moonlight walking rapidly toward the house that led to the haunted house, with a shiver over her head. The company returned to their seats by the fire, a little sobered by the incident.

"I think Cordelia's very foolish to rush off like that," said Betty Sterne, a pretty blonde girl who was one of the most popular of the guests. "She might meet a tramp or a dog or something. Don't you think some one ought to go after her?"

"Whoever went after her would run a awful risk of being eaten alive," retorted Charles West, Betty's suitor of the moment. "Cordelia's mother up her mind, and nothing we could do would change it. It's after 10 now, anyway—she's only about an hour and three-quarters. And, of course, nobody thinks for a minute that there is really anything wrong with the house. Cordelia got one of her crazy impulses, and you know there's no doing anything with her when she's like that."

So the crowd continued its chatter, apparently forgetful of the obstinate Cordelia. But one man was moody and silent. This was Jimmy Westlake. He did not like the idea of Cordelia being out alone, even though the ruined house was on her own property and there was nothing to be apprehended from tramps or other prowlers of the night. His solicitude was not entirely based on disinterestedness; Cordelia had long been entangled in the meshes of her attractiveness, but he was by nature a silent man, who did not show well in the company of the more brilliant, if shallow group that surrounded Cordelia. So he had never spoken.

As the hour wore on toward half past eleven Jimmy's uneasiness increased. Finally he could bear it no longer, and with a word of excuse about going out to the garage to see about something he had forgotten to do to his car, he slipped from the room. Once outside he headed for the haunted house.

The broken edifice was ghostly enough in the pale moonlight, with its crumbling walls, glassless windows and shattered door. The weeds grew rank and unkempt all about it. He stole cautiously up the path to the doorway, and even as his foot touched the worn sill he heard a muffled shriek from within. Every nerve on fire he rushed through the littered hall and came to a door from behind which came sobs mingled with an unearthly clanking sound.

It was locked, but his shoulder sent it crashing inward and he found himself in a room dusty with the accumulations of years, in which the moonlight filtered through dirty panes; in one corner a huddled heap of white which he knew to be Cordelia; and across the floor something black and shapeless was moving accompanied by that ghastly rattle!

Jimmy's nerve was good, but even he was shaken for a moment. Then reason reasserted itself, and he kicked savagely at the thing, it leaped away with a snarl, and the moonlight fell on it—a small dog with a collar from which dangled a few feet of rusty chain.

In his relief Jimmy laughed aloud, and took two strides to where Cordelia crouched, her hands over her face. At the sound of his voice she

THE "PRINCE"

Mr. Jackson Wears His Crown, But He Was a "Prince"

Principal Jackson was very popular among the students of Victor High. He was known as the man who believed in the square deal, and many were his students that accepted him as their ideal to pattern after.

So, when he, in a stern voice, requested that Sam Stevens and Slim Perkins accompany him to his office, Sam felt sure that they would get lost justice.

"Now then, Sam, tell me just what happened today." The three were seated in Mr. Jackson's private office, behind a closed door. On one side of the principal's desk sat Slim. On the other side sat Sam Stevens. There was a contrast between the two boys. While Sam was not what is sometimes called a "model youth," he was of the type you like to meet. Slim was not—but Slim had his good points. He merely had allowed the bad to predominate.

At Mr. Jackson's suggestion that Sam tell of the day's occurrences—which meant the fight, of course—Slim winced slightly. He realized that if Sam told the truth it would mean more trouble for Slim Perkins, and Slim Perkins was in no position to take on any more such affairs. He already had more trouble than he could handle.

Sam also realized this. Therefore, he was in a quandary. Should he tell the truth or should he not? He didn't want to "peach," and yet he didn't want to deliberately lie. Mr. Jackson, he thought to himself, wouldn't lie.

That's it—what would Mr. Jackson do under the same circumstances? Sam thought quickly. He reached a decision. He would tell as little as possible about the fight and what had caused it.

He began the story. All the while he spoke Mr. Jackson's eyes were fixed steadily on him.

The tale of the fight was finished. The room was in silence for a moment. Then Mr. Jackson, shifting his eyes from Sam, turned to the sullen and silent Slim.

"My boy," he said addressing Slim, "is that story the whole truth?"

If you were in Slim's place, what would you have answered? Slim's answer appears in tomorrow's chapter.

looked up, then suddenly sprang to his feet and threw his arms around his neck, hiding her face on his shoulder.

"Oh, Jimmy, Jimmy! I'm so glad you came! I'm so glad! Oh, it was dreadful! Please, please take me away!"

Even when he explained that it was only a dog she refused to be comforted, shuddering against him and begging to be taken home. He helped her outdoors, and in the open air she found relief in tears. Somehow Jimmy's shoulder seemed a good place as a repository for her grief, and she wept unrestrainedly with his good right arm holding her close. And as she realized her need of him he felt surging through him his love for her, and then and there, on the path that led to her house, he told her all that his heart had ached to express. Her tears ceased; but she did not draw away from his protecting arm. At the threshold of the house they raised, from within came sounds of laughter.

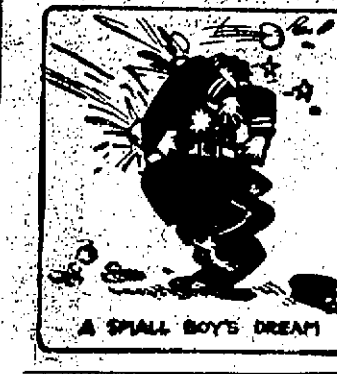

"And you were the only one to think of coming for me!" murmured Cordelia.

"I had to come—something made me. I had to come because—because—"

"Because what, Jimmy?"

"Because of what I said before—because I love you and have always loved you. Cordelia dear, you do care don't you?"

"Oh, Jimmy, I'm so glad I was foolish and willful and went to that horrible house! I might never have

DOLLAR IDEAS

Money from Snapshots

One day I was walking down the street when I saw a group of children at play. An idea struck me. I walked over to the children and asked them for a few moments and noticed that they seemed particularly cute. I spoke to them.

Then I asked them if they wanted their pictures taken. They said, of course. So I fixed them in suitable poses and snapped about six pictures of the bunch.

I developed the film and printed the pictures. They were then mounted on some blank card board which I bought at a stationery store. The mounted snapshots I took to the home of the little children. On showing them to the mothers they were very much pleased and I was able to sell the pictures at fifteen cents each—giving me a profit of about six cents on each one. I am still doing this special business, not neglecting the picture-taking, of course. It pays well and is a pleasant pastime.—F. F. D.

Touching, But Timely

As this Column was walking down Calvert street the other morning, feeling this earth is all piffle when life's but a snuff, I noticed a sign in the window of a shoe store. The sign read: "Shoes made to order, guaranteed to last, and allowed by law, and its classic countenance wishing it could secure an absolute divorce without publicity from its Roman nose. It met a man well known in local business and in federal circles. He glanced sympathetically at this Column's dilapidated frontispiece and hoarsely whispered in passing: "Have you heard the latest title for a popular song? It is 'Will You Meet Me in May'—Fever Time, My Dainty Ada Noids!" — Baltimore American.

GIRLHOOD STORIES OF FAMOUS WOMEN

Pandit Rambhai

Pandit Rambhai's mother was dying. The father had died shortly before from starvation. They were a very proud family which had once been rich. Poor now, they would rather starve than beg.

Pandit decided to hide her pride, and went to a neighbor's for a piece of bread. She tried so hard to keep back the tears, but her face told the story. The kind Brahmin lady gave Pandit some bajree bread.

Pandit Rambhai found salvation and liberty for herself and gave up a good position in order to enlighten and uplift her less fortunate sisters of India.

"HOBO DAY" AROUSES MUCH SCHOOL SPIRIT

OKLAHOMA CITY, OKLA.—"Hobo Day" at Oklahoma High School, this city, is a big feature in student life. Recently such a day was celebrated.

At this time the members of the Hoboes, a student organization, dressed themselves in their special costumes—some as tramps, others as beggars, etc. They conducted a special assembly for the school, at which time the King of the organization, as well as the Spokesman and several other members, made addresses.

After school the Hoboes assembled and marched thru the downtown district of the city.

Hobo Day was originally created to arouse enthusiasm in a game with a school near here, which, at one time, was the strongest opponent of Oklahoma High.

COUNTY BOARD FOR RURAL SCHOOLS IS PLAN OF HINEMAN

New Chairman of Assembly Education Committee Would Replace Present System

MADISON, Wis.—County boards of education with directing authority over rural schools, to replace present school committees will be proposed to the legislature, according to Miles M. Hineman, chairman of the assembly committee on education. School committees are now functioning. The board of education as proposed would be vested with authority to appoint and remove the county superintendent of schools and to direct his activity. It would also be empowered to redistribute the counties for school purposes. In general the board would be responsible for the efficient operation of the rural schools in the county. Present school committees have no authority other than to appoint the superintendent. Division will arise in the legislature over the question of appointive or elective members of the boards of education. Mr. Hineman favors the elective board, while others are of the opinion that only by having the members appointed by the county supervisors will be best qualified men be obtained.

Clean Cooling System

Clogging of the cooling system may be prevented by cleaning it at least twice a year with sal soda. Dissolve about two pounds of it in hot water and pour into the radiator, running the car as usual. After a day's use, drain the radiator and fill with clean water, changing the water again the next day. This will remove the scum that forms in the system, especially the radiator.

The Screen

AT THE THEATERS TODAY

Rivoli—Marshall Neilan's First National production, "Dinty"; "Literary Digest." La Crosse—Walker Whiteside in a big road attraction, "Master of Ballantrae." Majestic—Justine Johnstone in "Blackbirds"; Pollard comedy, "Fellow Citizens"; Fox News and vaudeville, Dixon and Schroeder, novelty dancers, and Dorman and De Glenn, in a comedy sketch. Bijou—"Dead Men Tell No Tales," and a comedy. Strand—"Jones in 'Just Pals,'" and "Son of Tarzan," No. 12. Rivoli—"Sins of the Mothers," with Anita Stewart, and "Simple Life." Chicago—"Woman God Sings," and comedy, "Mongrels."

FAR NORTH DRAMA—BIJOU

Ralph Ince, creator of American types for the screen, has added to the screen another remarkable characterization. In "Out of the Snows," a vivid drama of the great snow wastes, which is to be shown at the Bijou for three days beginning Thursday. He appears as a member of the famous Northwest Mounted Police. "Out of the Snows" is the first of a series of National Pictures starring Ralph Ince. Around no other people has such a tint of glamour been thrown as the fur traders of the North, the Canadian Mounted Police, and the half-breeds that live on the pine woods develop. The story is introduced with a thread of mystery, a beautiful founding girl and a half-breed woman of strange beauty. Into the lives of these two women comes a stalwart member of the mounted police. Outlaw fur traders, Indian runners and all the raffish of a frontier trading post furnish the background for one of the most thrilling melodramas the screen has ever seen. "Dead Men Tell No Tales" will be shown at the Bijou tonight for the last time.

ANITA STEWART—RIVIERA

The infinite number of ways in which young persons are lured into the sin of gambling are suggested dramatically in Vitaphone's current production, "The Sins of the Mothers." This picture, with Anita Stewart in the stellar role, will be presented at the Riviera tonight.

Miss Stewart appears in the role of Tricie Raymond, a girl who inherits the gambling instinct from a mother who is secret owner of a gambling resort. Mrs. Raymond seeks to shield the girl perpetually from all contact with games of chance, but even as a child the latter is accidentally lured toward the sin.

BUCK JONES—STRAND

Buck Jones in the William Fox production "Just Pals," a drama of the wheat country from a story by John Mc Dermott, is announced as the feature attraction at The Strand tonight.

The scenes are laid in a small town on the border-line of the wheat and cattle countries. It deals with the lives of a dejected "nobody," a boy wulf and a beautiful school teacher, who become united through circumstances that constitute what has been described as a most appealing story. Buck Jones is seen in the part of Blim, the "nobody"—a ne'er-do-well who at heart is courageous and chivalrous.

PAULINE FREDERICK: MAJESTIC

"The Woman in Room Thirteen" is a picture which calls for strong and emotional acting, and Pauline Frederick as one of America's foremost screen actresses was ably cast for the part of Laura Bruce. The picture can be seen at the Majestic beginning on Thursday. The story in detail is as follows:

After finding him enjoying a drunken revelry with another woman, Laura divorces her husband and later marries a hard working young man, Paul Ramsey, employed by a reputable firm. One day just before he leaves town on business, Paul hears a clerk pass a slighting remark about his wife and Turner. He sets a detective to protect his wife while he is away. The detective is none other than John Bruce, now known as Graham who sets a dictaphone from Turner's apartment to his and learns that Laura is to come there. But Edna Crane visits Turner unexpectedly and thinking it is Laura in Turner's apartment, Graham brings Paul to listen to the conversation supposedly between Laura and his employer. The next development forms the climax to a well acted picture, replete with thrills. The confession of Edna Crane and the defeat of Turner's purpose makes a brilliant ending to an absorbing picture.

The vaudeville at the Majestic for next Thursday, Friday and Saturday will be two lively acts. Smith and Jordan in "Fun Fast and Furious," a snappy offering presented by two men who go through a series of acrobatic stunts and tumbling. Plenty of comedy talk is intermingled. Amick and Furr are a very likeable couple with an amusing offering. Jack Amick has been starred for the past four seasons with Neil O'Brien's minstrels. Miss Furr is a winsome dancer, a beauty with ability and personality.

DINTY—RIVOLI

An unusual combination of types is offered in "Dinty," Marshall Neilan's newest production which will be the attraction at the Rivoli for the rest of the week beginning today. As three of the chief characters in the story Director Neilan has used Wesley Barry, the freckle-faced kid in "Go and Get It" and "Don't Ever Marry." Aaron Mitchell, a pickpocket, and Walter Chung, an almond-eyed youngster of Oriental extraction. Other widely contrasted types are offered by Colleen Moore, as an Irish girl; Julia Faye, as a modern vamp; Anna May Wong, a beautiful Chinese maiden of eighteen summers in pretty Oriental garb; Pat O'Malley, Marjorie Daw and J. Barney Sherry, in straight

American parts; Tom Wilson, as an Irish cop; Jimmy Wong, an 86-year-old native of the land of the Chee Chee bird, and Kate Price, as a typical Bridget from Erin.

EDEL FORD HAS OPERATION

DETROIT, Mich.—Edsel B. Ford, president of the Ford Motor company, underwent an operation for appendicitis Tuesday, it became known.

At the hospital it was announced his condition was favorable.

GOING SOME!

A mathematical bug has figured out that a 34 x 4 tire, in going 5,000 miles, revolves 8,871,840 times. That shows what enormous amount of wear a tire can stand. Nowadays, it isn't unusual for tires to stand up well for twice this distance.

TUXEDO TABOO IN PRESENCE OF WOMEN. DECLARE TAILORS

CHICAGO, Ill.—The Tuxedo coat must not be worn in the presence of women, according to a dictum from the Merchant Tailors' Designers' association, which opened a convention here Tuesday.

"The Tuxedo is taboo from all social occasions except stag parties," said J. A. Severin of Chicago, president of the association.

Louis A. Danner, secretary of the organization, said the clothing of American men carries out the idea that we are a nation of money grabbers.

"Good clothes suggest that we live for the finer things of life," he added.

COLDS

"Pape's Cold Compound" is Quickest Relief Known

Don't stay stuffed-up! Quit blowing and sniffling! A dose of Pape's Cold Compound taken every two hours until three doses are taken usually breaks any cold right up. The very first dose opens clogged nostrils and the air passages of the head; stops nose running; relieves the headache, dizziness, feverishness. "Pape's Cold Compound" costs only a few cents at drug stores. It acts without assistance, tastes nice, contains no quinine—Insist upon Pape's!

It is seldom I Publicly endorse a photoplay but "Dinty" is so far above the ordinary and the work of the child star, Wesley Barry, so far superior to others, that I wish to recommend the same to you as being a photoplay that you should not miss seeing.

This is a 100 per cent picture.

PILOT KLOOR TELLS STORY OF FLIGHT INTO CANADA WILDS

ROCKAWAY, N. Y.—Lieutenant Kloor, pilot of the American naval balloon on his thrilling flight from Rockaway to Moose Factory, Canada, December 13 and 14, told the story of the trip to a naval board of inquiry here Tuesday.

Lieutenant Walter Kloor, one of the passengers on the flight, was in court prepared to take the stand later but Lieutenant Farrell, the third officer, was confined to a sick-bed.

Lieutenant Kloor said that before the start of the flight December 13, the balloon was fully equipped and provided with rations consisting of sufficient coffee and sandwiches for three meals for three men. A water bag with one and one-half gallons of water also was taken.

At the start of the flight Kloor said, they ascended to a height of 2,000 feet.

"It would have been simple to land at Wells, N. Y.," Lieutenant Kloor said. "The balloon, he explained, was in a calm, hanging about 100 feet above the ground. It was then 3 p. m. The men conversed with a man on the ground, but weather conditions were perfect and they decided to continue.

About two hours later the wind increased and soon after midnight they saw lights to the northward. About 1:30 a. m. the lights of a large city appeared and they dropped low enough to shout at people.

A heavy rain was falling. All their efforts to attract attention failed; however, they kept on northward. No signs of habitation were seen until about 3 a. m., when what appeared to be a small farm-house was distinguished. They yelled until a man came to the door.

"I could see that he was frightened," Kloor continued.

"He opened the door, looked out a minute, made no reply and hurriedly rushed back into the house and slammed the door."

They floated on until morning with no signs of life. A heavy rain pelted the men and soaked the men's clothing and all equipment. At 10 o'clock they saw a small log house, but kept on for another hour when the sun came out, expanding the gas and sending the balloon to a height of 6,000 feet.

About 1:15 they thought they heard a dog barking and then saw a small log house. They decided to chance a landing. When about thirty feet above the tree tops they made a "zip" landing and the balloon, striking the trees, "perforated," thirty of forty feet above woods, swept by a high wind.

THOMAS JOHNSON, OLD TREMPEALEAU RESIDENT,
VICTIM OF PNEUMONIA

TREMPEALEAU, Wis.—Thomas Johnson, a resident of Trempealeau for over thirty years, died at his home here last Saturday from pneumonia. He was taken sick only five days previous to his death. Mr. Johnson was born in Sogndal, Norway, April 28, 1854. He immigrated to this country in 1873 and for a few years worked in the woods of northern Wisconsin.

In 1887 he entered the employ of the Burlington railroad and was almost continuously in their employ until his death. At the time of his death he was in charge of the section for that company at Trempealeau, which position he had held for a number of years. He was the third oldest foreman in point of service on this division.

He was married to Cilla Mason, March 17, 1881. To them were born seven sons and two daughters, John, Albert, Charles, Chester, Peter, Elia, Alvin and Frank, all of whom survive with the exception of Frank, who died about two years ago during the flu epidemic. He is also survived by a brother at the old home in Norway.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the Methodist church, Rev. W. J. MacCauley officiating. The pall bearers were fellow employees of the Burlington road. They were W. E. Garber, O. G. Hermann, H. L. Spurling, P. C. Coyne, E. A. Bright and E. L. Martin. Interment was made in Trempealeau cemetery.

TOMAH, Wis.—The present agricultural committee of the Monroe county board consists of the following supervisors: J. E. Leverich of Antigo, Rexford Elbert of Warrens and Burr Nelson of Tomah. The board voted a resolution to install a lighting system at the county asylum and pool hall. A resolution was adopted allowing the sheriff to charge 75 cents instead of 60 cents a day for board at the county jail. The board directed the county state roads and bridge committee to purchase a site for the erection of buildings to house the county road machinery.

WALKER WHITESIDE AT LA CROSSE TONIGHT

Walker Whiteside will appear at the La Crosse theater this evening in Robert Louis Stevenson's story of romantic adventure, "The Master of Ballantrae." Every reader of Stevenson will remember the striking character of James Dairie, the gallant young master of the great estates of Dunsinane and Ballantrae in Scotland. This lovely tale permits Mr. Whiteside to put the gamut of the human emotions, from the depths of vice to the summit of enthusiasm, and from the blackest villainy to the brightness of generosity and nobility. Supporting Mr. Whiteside are Alexander Frank, W. Mayne Lynton, Maurice Barrett, Basil West, James Macene, Karil Vase, Miss Sydney Shields, Miss Natalie Stewart and Miss Virginia Duncan.

NEW GOVERNMENT NEEDED IN CHINA DECLARES PREMIER

Foreign Loan also Necessary to Reorganize Affairs He Tells Writers

PEKING—China needs a new parliament and a foreign loan to reorganize the government, Premier Chin Kai-shek told the newspaper men at a capital recently in a verbal statement. The Premier outlined to the correspondents a whole program of reorganization which the government hopes to put into effect. The Premier said he should draft a proper constitution for reorganized China. He said the mandate of the President has gone forth declaring peace between the Northern and Southern sections.

The Premier said the government desired to reorganize and reduce the size and to separate the civil from military jurisdiction. This last, he said, might appear ridiculous to foreigners but he added, in China, "the military had overstepped civilian powers so that one finds difficulty in drawing a clear line between the two."

The Premier referred to a report that the main reason for issuing the mandate announcing a reunion of the North and South was the desire of the central government to secure loans from foreign countries. "I categorically state that the government has no such thought," said Premier Chin. "The mandate was entirely free from such a desire. On the contrary, it was only after this unity and in view of the government's measure for reorganization of the whole country that a necessity for the loan arose."

"The idea of a foreign loan was only to spare the people from making that loan themselves to the government. Capital from abroad might be brought into the country and thus save the people from using their own capital already earmarked for their own individual undertakings."

The Premier declared, however, that the Chinese government would not make a foreign loan, although the necessity was pressing, except on such conditions as would not endanger the sovereign rights of the country or involve any danger to its political status. If the loan could not be made on such terms, then he believed the Chinese government could rely upon the people themselves to come to its assistance.

Everyone is aware of the government's difficult position with respect to finances, he said. Many of the troops have not been paid for several months and government departments were almost unable to pay their bills.

DESERTING RUSSIA

Workers Lured by the Soviet Are Returning Home

SILANGHAI—Workers lured to Russia from other countries by the Bolshevik government are hustling back home by return train, says the Russian Echo, Shanghai newspaper.

About 250 Scandinavians tried to settle in Russia," says the Echo. "The Bolshevik government gave them all sorts of privileges, but they bolted on account of dreadful privations."

Fifty thousand German workmen, mostly technical engineers and others, are arriving in the Ural mountains on a guarantee that their settlement is to have autonomous rights making it independent of the Soviet.

DECREASE IN CRIME

New York Police Commissioner Says Figures Prove It

NEW YORK—Your common Police Commissioner Enright with figures to show murders, robberies and burglaries in New York were fewer during 1920 than during 1919.

Also, New York's record—for 1919 at least—was not as bad as Chicago's, though New York is twice as large.

Enright, whose administration is about to be investigated, has at least one supporter in his assertion that the crime wave is a myth.

"New York is the safest city in the world," says Jacob H. Fauton, new chief of staff for District Attorney Quinn. "New York is being hurt by the continuous slander on her good name. Visitors are being kept away because of fear of holdups and burglaries."

Here is New York's crime record. Enright figures it:

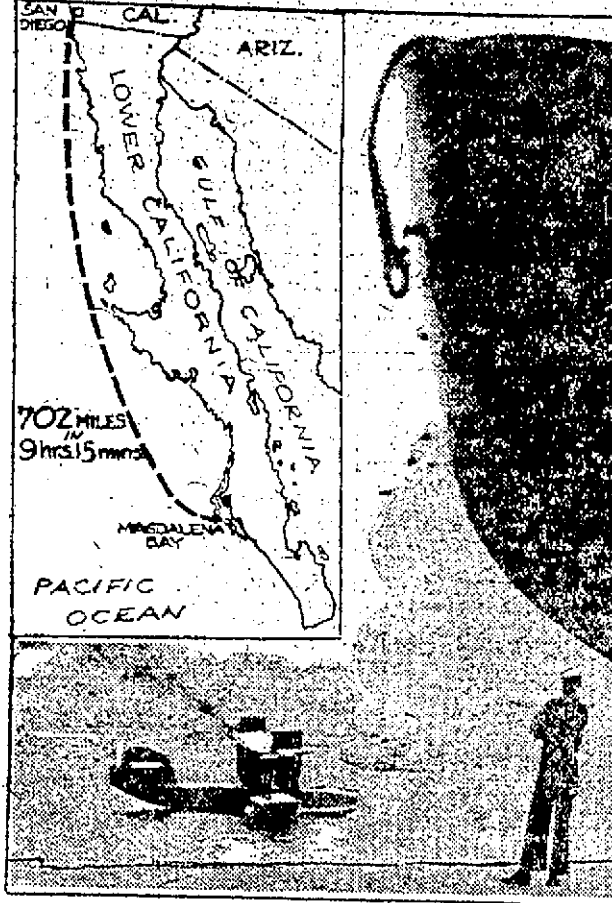

Shooting	1934	1919
Robberies	141	163
Burglaries	26	36
Unassaulted	87	88
Total	254	309
Robberies	1588	1744
Burglaries	3040	3100

Forty per cent of New York's population is foreign born. This is declared to be the reason why New York annually has six times as many murders as London, and four times as many burglaries.

Frank Oliver, chief clerk of the city magistrate's court, gives statistics showing that of 24,000 persons arrested in a year, 95,000 were natives and 110,000 either foreign born or natives with foreign born parents.

Great medical virtues were once ascribed to the plant Jacob's ladder.

ANOTHER RECORD

Uncle Sam hung up a new aviation record—non-stop flight with pilot and five passengers—when the N. C-5 flew from San Diego to Magdalena Bay, Lower California, in nine hours and fifteen minutes. Distance, 702 miles; speed, about seventy-two miles an hour. The N. C-5 is a United States navy seaplane—a sister of the N. C-4 which made the first trans-Atlantic flight. She is now resting on the water, while on the pier a sailor or is standing under the nose of another of the same type. This gives an idea of the great size of these planes.

FATHER JOHNSON AND WIFE DEPART SUNDAY FOR NEW TEXAS HOME

SUNDAY EVENING Rev. William Everett Johnson, retiring pastor of Christ Episcopal church, preached his farewell sermon. Following the service the Rev. Mr. Johnson and his wife bade farewell to the members of their congregation, and later in the evening left for San Antonio, Texas, where they will spend about two months. They will then go to San Antonio, Texas, where the Rev. Mr. Johnson will take up his new work.

The penetrating heat of "Red Pepper Rub" will bring almost instant relief from the pains of rheumatism, pleurisy, colds, lumbago, neuritis, headache, strains, sprains, sore muscles and stiff aching joints.

Penetrating heat immediately frees the blood circulation that carries off the congestion and pain is gone.

Nothing has such concentrated, penetrating heat as red peppers. The moment you apply Red Pepper Rub you feel the tingling heat. In three minutes it warms the congested spot through and through.

When you are suffering so you can hardly get around, just get a jar of Red Pepper Rub. Rub it into the sore spots. It costs little at any drug store. The quickest relief known awaits you. Use it always for rheumatism in chest.

TWO ROBERT E. LEES

Blood will tell, they say—especially military blood. Today's example—the two Robert E. Lees.

General Lee, chief of the armies of the Confederate States of America, was born 114 years ago today, January 19, 1807, at Stratford, Westmoreland county, Virginia. He died fifty years ago.

At eighteen General Lee entered West Point, graduating four years later, in 1829. He married Mary Parke Custis, kin of Martha Washington, in 1831.

During his military career he was in the engineer corps; assistant to the chief engineer of the army; in Washington; superintendent at West Point; served against the Indians in Texas; was offered command of the Army of the United States, which he refused; commanded the Virginia troops during the early part of the Civil War; was military adviser to President Davis of the Confederate States; director of the military operations of the Confederacy, and finally commander-in-chief of all the armies of the Confederacy.

In 1865 he surrendered to General Grant and later the same year became president of Washington College at Lexington, Va., now Washington and Lee University.

In 1870 his health began to fail and he died within a few months. He is regarded as the greatest of the southern commanders.

Robert E. Lee, his grandson, fought with the Thirty-third Division of the United States army during the World War. He became a lieutenant and was cited for the Croix de Guerre after being wounded in France, when his company captured a machine gun.

He returned to the United States and was made instructor at Camp Grant. Promotion to captaincy followed. In July, 1919, he married in Washington.

It's Made From Peach and Raisin Juice

KENOSHA.—This might be called "The Story of a Bun in a Bakery."

Arthur and Julia Schumaker have a bakery famed for fine peach and raisin pies. They were arrested on a charge of making "moonshine."

"Tastes like peaches to me," said Municipal Judge Tully.

"They made pies with the peaches and saved the juice off the raisins used in their raisin pies. That combination soon develops a kick."

"Fine idea for a bun in a bakery," the court remarked, as he fined them each $100 and costs.

114 EGGS A DAY NOW INSTEAD OF 25 A DAY

This Means About $126 Extra Income Per Month for Mrs. Ropp

"I have 200 hens, including late pullets not old enough to lay, and had been getting 25 to 30 eggs a day. Then I tried Don Sung and am now getting 107 to 114 eggs a day."—Mrs. Essie B. Ropp, R. R. 2, Littleton, Ind.

This increase of 7 dozen a day in the middle of winter at 60c a dozen, makes $126 extra income per month. Don Sung for her 200 hens cost about $2.50. It paid her, and we guarantee it will pay you.

Give your hens Don Sung and watch results for one month. If you don't find that it pays for itself and pays you a good profit besides, simply tell us and your money will be cheerfully refunded.

Don Sung (Chinese for egg-laying) is a scientific tonic and conditioner. It is easily given in the feed, improves the hen's health and makes her stronger and more active. It tones up the digestive organs and gets the eggs, no matter how cold or wet the weather.

Don Sung can be obtained promptly from your druggist or poultry remedy dealer, or send $1.04 (includes war tax) for a package by mail prepaid. Burrill-Dugger Co., 214 Columbia Bldg., Indianapolis, Ind.

NON-FREEZING DRINKING FOUNTAINS

To get eggs it is necessary for the fowls to have clean water (not frozen or icy) before them at all times.

An egg contains 65% water, so you can readily see the necessity of the water.

A REAL DRINKING FOUNTAIN

Don't burn your coop or suffocate your flock with lamps or stove. Clean water increases egg production.

Why not get one of these Non-Freezing Fountains and get that extra increase of eggs?

In order to appreciate the merits of this fountain you will have to see its construction, therefore kindly inspect it at our store.

A good laying tonic will also help to stimulate egg production.

We highly recommend Don Sung, Franks' Heat and Conker's Laying Tonic. Put up in packages from 30c to $3.00.

Sick hens will not lay their best. Look out for colds and roup which quickly spread throughout the entire flock and often times completely wipe them out.

We advise as a preventative to be given twice a week Hoeschler's Poultry Germicide. This can also be given in light stages of Roup and Colds.

For obstinate cases and where the eyes and head are swollen get Hoeschler's Roup Powder as this is much stronger preparation. How about some Nest Eggs, Louse Powder, Liquid Mite Destroyer and Leg Bands?

Band the birds now as this summer you will not be able to tell your pullets from your old hens. Let us talk over your Poultry and Stock troubles.

LEONARD RATED AS REAL CHAMPION IN FIGHTING ARENA

Hard Mill With Richie Mitchell
Proved Leonard's Class
as a Fighter

NEW YORK.—The howl has gone up already from some of the fight bugs that make a habit of berating every ring champion who does not defend his title by knocking the challenger into a cocked hat without taking a little punishment himself.

Leonard is going back. This is the crack of this species of fight fan as he reflects the fact that Benny was forced to mop up a few square inches of the canvas with his fists last Friday night. They are all wrong in this case. There may be some room for such belief in the case of Jack Dempsey, but not as far as Leonard is concerned.

Only Time He Shows Class
A fighter does not show any real championship class when he goes up against a harmless opponent and after some fancy stunts knocks him out. It is the kind of bout that Richie Mitchell waged against Benny Leonard at Miss Morgan's informal little party in the garden that makes a champion a real champion.

Benny Leonard, after going down and thumping his pride and dignity, revealed those fighting assets that produce the ideal champion. Coolness under fire, thinking power, stamina and science in his every move—these are the phases of his ability that were brought out most strongly by the battle that he had to put up against a man of Mitchell's kind.

Knocking a tough man down three times in one round is not a sign of degeneration. The fact that he was knocked down himself only demonstrates the quality and quantity of the opposition he was up against. It is under such circumstances that champions, if they are real, assert themselves.

No, Benny is not going back. He still has the full use of his brain power, which has been devoted to the fight business for many years. Benny moves with his old time speed. He hits well and his science is still at par. As a champion it looks as if he has a long road ahead of him.

LEWIS COCKSURE HE WILL DEFEAT CADDOCK ON MAT

NEW YORK.—"Strangler" Lewis is positive he will retain his world's wrestling championship in his match with Earl Caddock Monday night at the Seventy-first regiment armory.

In fact, the champion is confident that he declared Tuesday he will conquer the "man of one thousand holds" in faster time than it took to defeat Wladek Zbyszko and Joe Stecher, the former titleholder.

Lewis will put on the finishing touches with his corps of trainers at Bohner's gym. Caddock is working at Grand Neck and is just as cocksure as Lewis.

"LISTEN LESTER" TO PLAY HERE JAN. 26

Theatergoers of La Crosse have been looking forward with pleasurable anticipation to the engagement of John Cort's musical comedy success, "Listen Lester," which will be the attraction at the La Crosse theater Wednesday, Jan. 26. The locale of "Listen Lester" is Palm Beach. Cort is said to have lavished money and great pains on the settings and costumes, and in securing clever comedians, dancers par excellence, and a beautiful chorus with shapely forms, good voices, and ability to dance. There are many dancing melodies in "Listen Lester." "When the Shadows Fall," "Weather Your Nest," "Waiting for You," "Show Me a Little Something New," being among those which tempt you to whistle.

JACK KEARNS DENIES REPORT THAT BOUT HAS BEEN CANCELLED

Official Confirmation Lacking in Announcement that Dempsey-Georges Bout is Off

NEW YORK.—Official confirmation was lacking today of the announcement printed in the New York Times that the heavyweight championship bout between Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier of France, had been called off.

The bout was cancelled, according to announcement, because of the failure of the principals to deposit forfeit money.

The promoters agreed to deposit $100,000 as a guarantee of good faith, while the managers of the fighters agreed to deposit $50,000 each.

Charles B. Cochran, an English promoter, is said to have been the only one to make a deposit, although Carpentier's manager is reported to have posted a check for his share in a French bank. The contract called for the money to be deposited not later than November 20 last, at a local trust company.

In well-informed quarters it is believed the reported cancellation was only a temporary expedient and that a new contract would be drawn up.

A report from Paris says that Carpentier's forfeit of $50,000 was deposited with a local institution on November 22 and San Francisco reports quote Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager as saying forfeits of both Dempsey and Carpentier have been posted.

Kearns denied reports that the fight had been called off.

Rickard Denies It
Tex Rickard, one of the promoters of the bout, denied that the bout had been called off, as announced by the New York Times.

All the principals have posted the deposits required under the terms of the contract, Rickard declared. Plans for the bout are being continued, he asserted, and it is now expected to stage it July 2.

PEORIA SEEKING TO STAGE EVENT FOR POWER BOATS

PEORIA, Ill.—A campaign to bring the 1921 Mississippi Valley Power Boat regatta to Peoria was started Wednesday with the election of delegates to annual meeting to be held in Davenport, Iowa, Jan. 30.

R. H. Daniels and A. T. Griffith were elected to represent the Illinois Valley Yacht club and L. E. Selby and J. M. Dorsey named as delegates of the Peoria Yacht club.

The regatta, scheduled for the first week in July, will be staged on Peoria lake in the event it is awarded to this city.

MISSOURI STATE WOULD LEGALIZE BOXING CONTESTS

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo.—Senator J. L. Brown, St. Louis, Wednesday introduced a bill legalizing professional boxing and placing it under control of a boxing commission. He said the bill was being supported by members of the American Legion. All boxing contests would be licensed and limited to fifteen rounds and penalties fixed for fake bouts.

The Humble Peanut is Full of Food
More than 2,000,000 acres in this country were planted with peanuts last year. The demand for them is increasing by leaps and bounds. They are one of the most nutritious foods known to man. One pound of them (shelled) contains nearly half a pound of fat and a quarter of a pound of protein, both high grade and readily digestible. For running the body machine they are three times as efficient as an equal weight of beef and five times as efficient as an equal weight of eggs.

Diana's After the Deer
Among the deer hunters in the New Jersey woods are more women than ever before. In fact it was a very uncommon thing a few years ago to see a woman with a gun in the woods. But there were a few, generally natives who hunted the deer for food more than for fun, but this season there are a great many women in suitable hunting legs and equipped with good guns who are following the deer with the men. These women secured their preliminary experience in hunting similar game.

SKI JUMP CALLED OFF

Carnival Sports Committee Unable to Locate Suitable Place to Stage Event, Cross Country Event to Go as Scheduled

Announcement was made Wednesday by members of the carnival sports committee that the ski jumping event which had been tentatively arranged as a part of the sports to be held in connection with the corn and grain show in La Crosse January 26 to 29 has been called off.

The committee has made an earnest endeavor to locate a suitable place where the event could be staged but was forced to abandon the idea of the jump after a final search Tuesday by W. J. Wittich and J. K. Verhulst.

Although the ski jump has been called off, it was said that the cross country ski event would take place as scheduled in the list of events.

MASON TO BACK LANDIS TO HOLD JUDICIAL SEAT

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Representative William E. Mason of Illinois, Wednesday followed the example of Senator Sherman in returning to Thomas J. Sutherland the brief sent by him protesting against the action of Federal Judge Landis of Chicago in accepting the post of supreme ruler of organized baseball at a salary of $42,500 a year while still retaining his judicial seat.

Representative Mason said he suggested to Mr. Sutherland that the petition was too strong in spots and that if modified, he might be willing to file it with the house.

The copy sent to Senator Sherman by Mr. Sutherland was returned to the author without any suggestion of modification.

GOULD AND SOUTAR BEGIN NINE SET TENNIS TOURNEY

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—Jay Gould, the amateur tennis champion of the world, and Jack Soutar, holder of the world's racket title, began a nine set match at the Philadelphia Racquet club today for the open court tennis championship.

Gould is the American open champion while Soutar won the professional title last week.

Four sets were to be played today and the regular five sets on Friday.

Easier Than Fishing

The natives of the Fiji Islands catch a mess of fish by a method that is easier than fishing with a hook and line. The bait is "toova," the juice of a native vine which is obtained by macerating the plant, and this fluid is thrown into the water where there are fish, and immediately they turn over on their backs and float to the top where they are gathered by the fisherman. This condition lasts but a short time, and if they are placed in a tank of water they soon regain their former activity, and may be kept alive until desired for consumption. A food supply for weeks is harvested in a few minutes in this manner. The treatment has no ill-effects on the meat of the fish.

BROTHER OF 1919 CHAMPION ENTERS NORGE SKI TOURNEY

Lars Haugen is Latest Entry in Annual Tournament of Norge Ski Club

CHICAGO, Ill.—The latest entry in the annual tournament of the Norge Ski club to be held at Carey, Ill., Sunday, January 22, is that of Lars Haugen, brother of Anders, winner of last year's championship.

Bringing Landwick and Ingolf Sande have sent in their entries from Stoughton, Wis. From Milwaukee the entries of John Plücher and Sven Welhaven, the latter a well known Norwegian ski jumper, have been received. Fifteen entries received from the University of Wisconsin assure a big field and keen competition for the tournament.

In addition to the amateur and professional championship contests, there are exhibitions by women jumpers and a five-mile cross-country run for women on the program for this year's meet at Carey.

GREATER ARRAY OF NATIONS FOR DAVIS CUP PLAY

NEW YORK.—An effort to have a greater number of nations competing for the Davis cup tennis trophy than any previous year will be made by the United States Lawn Tennis association, it was announced Wednesday.

The American Davis cup committee has authorized the sending of letters to South American and European nations with organized tennis associations, who have not heretofore competed, inviting them to forward challenges. Canada expects to enter the competition this year.

The American Davis cup committee announced it will recommend to the schedule committee that the challenge round of the Davis cup matches precede the national singles championships, no matter where the latter event is played. It will advise also that the championship should not be held much later than has been the custom, owing to the falling light of September.

ARMENIAN CHILDREN STARVING TO DEATH; GIRL PLEADS FOR AID

Miss Jorjorian, Native Armenian, Speaks Here in Near East Relief Campaign

PLIGHT OF NATION BUTCHERED BY THE TURKS IS DESCRIBED

Only Orphans Fed Now; Others in Need of Food and Clothing

Think of a meal table 24 miles long, crowded with starving orphans. If you can comprehend such a picture, then you have some idea of what the Near East Relief has succeeded in accomplishing in Armenia. But it would take a longer table than the 24-mile one to feed all the starving men, women and children in Armenia and in order to extend the work already started La Crosse yesterday was called upon to contribute to the cause.

Thousands Still Unaided

J. H. Hanks of Waukegan, Wis., national committeeman of the Near East Relief, addressed the Kiwanis club on the rescue work accomplished by the relief society and the tremendous job that lies ahead in clothing and feeding the full orphans, half-orphans and adults of the little nation that has been pillaged, ravished and enslaved for centuries by the Turks. Since the armistice Armenia has been made a republic by the allies. But such a republic, exclaims Mr. Hanks, the Armenians were told they had their liberty, were free from the oppression of the Mohammedan but had nothing to eat but grasses and herbs and no clothing to wear except a few vermin-ridden rags.

Last night Mr. Hanks and Miss Jorjorian, an Armenian girl who has lived in this country for several years, spoke in the First Methodist church. Mr. Hanks' talk was illustrated by still pictures of actual scenes of starvation in Armenia of ragged children, of young women who bore on their faces the tattoo marks of their Turkish masters, of soup kitchens that have succeeded in keeping alive the starved people of hundreds of children, with limbs, backed by brutal Turks, of piles of bodies of victims of Turkish slavers.

Starve Near Gethsemane

Miss Jorjorian declared that Armenia embraced Christianity as the national religion in the fourth century and that it was the most abused Christian nation on earth and had suffered ever since. She told of children starving to death within sight of the Garden of Gethsemane. When the Turks invade a village and order the population to either embrace Mohammedanism and be allowed to live or remain Christians and die, Miss Jorjorian declared the great majority of her country people died.

This Armenian girl also told of the case of a mother who is now in Chicago who had three children. The youngest died of starvation and when the wagon that made the daily rounds of the town to collect the dead passed the house she placed her infant's body on the pile of dead in the cart. Later when they were fleeing from their home another child dropped out of the mournful procession and died of exhaustion and starvation by the roadside and the mother had to abandon the child to its fate. Two years later the third child also died because of lack of food.

It was to have the honor of his daughters, that Miss Jorjorian's father disposed of his property in Armenia, gathered together what few dollars he had left and came to America several years before the outbreak of the world war, the girl declared. Today, she said, the country is without food, clothing, furniture, in homes, and few raw materials with which to work. And it is to America, she asserted, that Armenia looks for redemption, to a return to something like its former glory of 700 years ago when there were 30,000,000 people in the nation. Today there are only 2,000,000.

The Seal's Winter Residence

The coming and going of the seals is one of the mysteries of nature. They appear on the islands of Alaska in full force without any preliminary notice about the last of April or first of May, and they disappear just as suddenly in the latter part of August or early in September. Hunters and scientists have endeavored to fathom this mysterious appearance and disappearance, but they are unable to offer any satisfactory explanation of what prompts the untimely of the movement or where they go for the winter.

COMINGS APPROVES BILL FOR U. S. TAX ON LAND HOLDINGS

Few Farmers of Wisconsin Will Come Under Statute Says Lieutenant-Governor

MADISON, Wis.—Lieutenant Governor Comings is a strong advocate of the Nolan-Ralston bill, which provides for a one-cent tax on all holdings of land valued at more than ten thousand dollars, now before Congress. In an interview given Wednesday Mr. Comings said:

"The papers which obey their master's voice, and seemingly there are many such, both farm and political periodicals, have put in overture in a most efficient manner in spreading mis-information, and in creating a large amount of prejudice against the Nolan-Ralston bill now before Congress. The object of the Nolan bill is not to increase the tax burdens of actual producing farmers, but is designed to tax the holders of privileges and to relieve agriculture of some of its handicaps. The fact that ninety-five per cent of what is commonly spoken of as 'Big Biz.' is actually and energetically fighting the Nolan bill furnishes quite satisfactory and convincing evidence that the bill is a meritorious plan of taxation and that it should have the earnest support of farmers and industrial workers generally. The forces of privilege are too shrewd, too cunning, to come into the open and confess that the bill would hit them, and therefore they fight it under a camouflage of great concern for the poor farmers, with which they mask their machine gun of misrepresentation. The provisions of the bill would impose a tax of 1 per cent on all holdings of land, valued at more than $10,000.00, exclusive of

OIL LIGHT BEATS ELECTRIC OR GAS BURNS 94% AIR

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the United States government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94 per cent air and 6 per cent common kerosene (coal-oil). The inventor, H. O. Johnson, 609 W. Lake street, Chicago, Ill., is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month. —Adv.

all improvements—clearing, buldings, fences, tiling, irrigation, in fact everything done by labor to add value to the land.

"Who will be hit by such a tax? Certainly not farmers. It is doubtful if there is a farmer in Brunswick township who would be touched by this bill should it become a law. It is exceedingly doubtful if 2 per cent of the farmers in all Wisconsin would come under the law! How about the Astor family holdings in New York city, where land has been pushed by monopoly conditions to a selling value of from $75.00 to $90.00 per square foot? How about lots in our own metropolis for which owners charge $30,000 per annum ground rent? Look back ten, fifteen or twenty years when these owners were contented with $10,000 per year as ground rent, but as monopoly tightens its grasp their toll from industry increase. How would a 1 per cent tax on land values in excess of $10,000 affect the vast holdings of coal and oil lands, of water power sites, etc? It is these privileged holdings of natural resources of great value that would be hit by the Nolan bill. It is the monopoly grasp of natural resources and trade instrumentalities that causes $20.00 per ton for coal, war time prices for steel, etc. "An old time conundrum was 'What will make more noise than a pig under a gate?' Answer—Two or three pigs, of course. In the case of this bill, pretty much all the pigs of monopoly are under the Nolan gate, and they won't exceedingly to squeal, but know very well that it is better policy for them to instigate the farmers to do the squealing for them about the injustices and hardships which may be imposed upon agriculture should the Nolan bill be enacted into a law."

Trappist monks were obliged to leave France at the time of the French revolution.

COLD IN THE HEAD RELIEVED AT ONCE BY TURPO

This Preparation Checks a Cold in the Head at Once, Prevents It Developing Into a More Serious Cold, Relieves Congestion and Inflammation.

The right way to treat a cold is to check it at the very beginning. Apply Turpo as soon as it appears as a cold in the head, with the typical running nose, dull headache and sneezing. Turpo is known as the Turpentine Ointment, because turpentine forms one of its principal ingredients. In addition to distilled turpentine there are two other very well known remedies in Turpo—Camphor and Menthol. The three are so combined in a mineral base, as to give best effects for the relief of all colds and congestion.

When Turpo is placed up the nostrils you inhale it immediately, and actually feel it clearing up the secretion in the air passages, and reducing the swelling and congestion. In this way Turpo checks a fresh cold at the very root of the trouble.

For severe colds Turpo is rubbed on the throat and chest. It sinks right through the skin, carrying the remedy to the seat of the inflammation or congestion, and relieving the cold overnight. Turpo is a splendid counter-irritant—it reduces inflammation and congestion without blistering. It is much better than poultices and plasters for this purpose, and as it has antiseptic properties, it not only relieves the condition, but removes the cause of the trouble. Turpo will not blister the skin or stain the clothing—it is absolutely non-poisonous—a small portion of it swallowed relieves a sore throat. It is invaluable for catarrhal conditions, and as an antiseptic balm for cuts and wounds.

Mothers with small children, who have once used Turpo, find that it enables them to check the children's colds immediately, and protect the little ones against the serious troubles which develop from neglected colds. Turpo is a true home remedy. Doctors realize its value and recommend it. Ask your doctor about it. It is sold by all druggists in 30c and 60c jars. Be sure you buy Turpo and not an imitation. Turpo comes in white opal jars with the orange and black label. Your money will be cheerfully refunded if you are not entirely satisfied.

Reputation--

The safest thing in the world that you can buy, is reputation.

Making a purchase from a manufacturer without reputation, is like loaning money without security. The dealer always feels safe in recommending any product of a reliable and responsible manufacturer; experience has taught him to be extremely cautious about anything where COST is the selling argument.

The manufacturer who earns and keeps a FAVORABLE REPUTATION is the one who plans QUALITY and SERVICE first.

It is not different with the dealer who wants to work up or maintain a reputation—the kind of reputation that is a business asset—he must exercise great care in buying, for he is known by the goods he sells; that is why NUNN BUSH shoes are sold by so many of the better stores—They Have a Reputation to Maintain.

Our prices have been reduced in keeping with the popular demand for lower prices and you can safely invest your money in NUNN BUSH shoes and feel that you are getting 100 cents worth of value out of every dollar spent with us.
